"The key to suicide prevention is connecting a mixture of sound research and best practices with comprehensive application of programs and services and implementing effective policy changes at the local, state, and national level. When all of these intersect, we believe that real change can happen. We are hopeful that the Midwest Suicide Prevention Summit can be instrumental in bringing those three together to impact suicide prevention in Midwest communities."

LETTER FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

"The idea for the Midwest Suicide Prevention and Mental Health Summit was born in 2019 out of a strong desire to provide local suicide prevention professionals with the practical skills they need to reduce suicide rates effectively. This two-day in-person summit will focus on providers of suicide prevention across the Midwest, from coalitions and organizations dedicated to preventing suicide and promoting mental health wellness, prevention professionals, healthcare professionals, veteran-serving organizations, state and community leaders, and others dedicated to community solutions to address the public health problem of suicide and mental health".
